

Creative Front End Skills Assessment

This is a chance to showcase your creativity and skills. There is no right or wrong answer.

In this folder you will find a file called test.html. It will rely on test.css so they should be kept together. All other assets are called from our own website.

Your task is to add three new sections to the page using the marketing text overleaf. It is your choice as to what graphical elements you use, if any, to support the text and how you lay it out.

There are HTML comments in the file to highlight our suggested placement, but feel free to shuffle them about in an order that you feel makes sense.

Good luck.
